Congratulations Gayle!

Gayle Olson-Raymer received the Excellence in Teaching Award (Lecturer), in 2015. She has taught in both the History and Education departments and her tireless efforts have benefitted our students, local teachers, statewide initiatives, and national organizations to advance the teaching of history in all levels of education. Her dedication to education has had a positive impact on the quality of teaching throughout the state of California over more than two decades.