

Week 1: August 26-30 (Classes Begin!)

This is the first week of classes! It's the perfect time to check out Handshake and the Welcome Home to Humboldt events to learn more about campus resources, clubs, and part-time jobs!

Get your books before the week is over. If you haven't already, ask if books are on reserve at the library—if this is an option you want to utilize. (Link to list of books on reserve: <https://library.humboldt.edu/node/801>)

Attend all of your classes—the professor can drop you from the class if you do not show up! Make note of attendance policies for each of your classes.

Get contact information from a few of your classmates for when you need help, want to form a study group, or have to miss a day.

Review your syllabi; know your professors' office hours and contact information, grading policy, attendance policy, etc. (Fill out a Syllabi Planner from the Academic Career and Advising Center to help you out!)

Use your planner!

Write in assignment due dates, quizzes, exams, finals schedule and breaks.

Establish a reading, study and daily homework schedule and record it in your planner. (Remember for every unit that you're enrolled in, you should be spending at least two hours outside of class doing coursework. For example: 15 units of classes = 30 hours of study and coursework.)

2:1

Learn how to navigate Canvas. (Help is available in the library or from your professors.) Download the app to your mobile device!

Make schedule changes if needed after talking with your advisor! It is best to change your schedule as early in the semester as you can. The add/drop deadline and Freeze Date (when you need to have at least 12 units to receive financial aid) is September 9th!

If you're in a science or math class that offers Supplemental Instruction (SI), make sure you're signed up!
